We are Joan and Gail, better known as “The Sisters,” and we developed the Daily 5 and CAFE for use in our own classrooms. If your school uses the Daily 5 or CAFE Assessment System, you and your colleagues probably have lots of specific questions about how to make your literacy workshops run smoothly. As we’ve presented our work to teachers and seen it embraced in schools across the country, we’ve thought about the best way to meet the needs of the hundreds of teachers who email us each week with questions.

The Daily CAFE is designed to harness the power of the web in delivering professional quality video, print resources, and especially, ongoing support to the thousands of schools that have implemented our literacy programs in the past few years. The Daily CAFE is a subscription website—for one low annual fee, you will have access to over 700 downloads and videos to help you renew and energize your literacy instruction. The Daily CAFE delivers new content weekly to members, including:

“We love Daily 5—but how does it work in kindergarten?”

“I’m trying your CAFE assessment program in my 3rd grade classroom, but it’s hard for me to visualize how you move from conferring to goal setting.”

“I’m using the Daily 5 in 6th grade, but what word work is appropriate at this grade level?”

“What does a strategy group look like?”

- Hundreds of professional video segments—taped by an award-winning crew over the last 18 months in K–6 classrooms, you’ll see everything from word work to check-in procedures to individual conferences with students of widely varying abilities. We have over 500 segments in production, with new video features added to the site each week.
- Templates for strategy groups, conferring, and whole class management and assessment.
- Design tools for creating a warm, inviting, and smart literacy environment.
- Photo slide shows with step-by-step guidance for setting up literacy instruction.
- Detailed descriptions of the “nitty gritty” processes for everything from organizing assessments to troubleshooting with students who struggle to stay on task.
- Guidance on how to integrate assessment with the ongoing work of reading and writing instruction.
- Portraits of veteran and novice teachers trying out new strategies in their classroom, and receiving coaching from us as they do.
- And much more!

For less than the price of sending one person to a national conference, your entire school staff can receive advice, support, and a wealth of video examples to guide your teaching all year long.
