3 Questions to Ask Before Teaching Any Lesson

With Gail Boushey and Allison Behne

Thank you for joining us!

Do you ever spend a whole lot of time preparing a lesson, only to realize that all of the bells and whistles you added, really didn't help students "get it"? The temptations of 'making it pretty' and 'filling up the time' are powerful. We must remember that teaching is not about doing more, it's about making sure students are engaged and understand what is taught.

In this coaching session, we will help you save time and energy and get the most from your students during lessons and while they are practicing. Gain confidence that you are focusing on what your students need and forget the busy work!
