Amy Fullerton	They shared their favorite toy, place to hang out, favorite snuggle item
Holly Kitson	For staff I sent cards to every staff member in the building and it made my day to mail them and then receive thank you's for the notes.
Katherine Williams	Thank you! That sounds awesome
Patricia Wierstra	My kids are loving virtual field trips with me! This week we went to a pond to find frogs and eggs
Lorie Hite	It is a math game online you can share on Seesaw

Lisa Roth	Emily Reeg is my teaching partner. I am sharing her ideas: She has done picnics as she reads to students, and is planning a bonfire with her students this week on zoom.
Amy Fullerton	Breakout -rooms : so students have 1 adult and about 3-4 kids just to talk and connect
Douglas Boushey	Virtual field trips. To the pond! Winner!
Holly Kitson	Abigail... Just a 5x7 envelope and a card... the pencil should fit in corner to corner.
Mary Hines	A flash drive with candid shots of recesses, field trips, classroom activities
Lorie Hite	Harry Potter room too
Debbie Collier	Doing science experiments and photographing for it.
sandra Johnson	Field trip to my garden
Patricia Wierstra	My EA and I have also been delivering Learning Kits to support online activities that we post. They get so excited to see us show up at their homes.
Diane Lax	I would record a video on u-tube at least 3 times a week to kindergarteners . I would give clues using phonics skills and the student's name that is chosen gets a personal phone call from me . Then I would take them out to the barn and count the calves in the pens or the cows eyes by twos etc
Abigail Lawrence	Thanks Holly! Great idea about the 5x7 envelope and card!
