

When to Introduce Choice and Check-In

As soon as stamina is reached in two of the Math Daily 3, we introduce choice. This means children are taught to choose the order in which they want to participate in Math Daily 3 tasks.

Students will now participate in two rounds of Math Daily 3. Before the first round, students check in with either Math by Myself or Math Writing, and the teacher records their choice on the check-in page.

Once stamina breaks down, students are called back to the gathering place and check in for the second round with the other Math Daily 3 while the teacher records.
